

Dear FCC members:

I want to acknowledge here my OPPOSITION to the weakening of the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. I am against allowing institutions who I make business with to call me as they want to. If they want to offer me products or services other than the ones I buy, they can reach me by means other than my home telephone. In addition, this would not be fair to the companies I don't do business with, and could end up favoring established business relationships in detriment of others. I DON'T want either one to call me at home! Indiana law has brought peace to my home in the evenings and I hope it continues like that. Please, withdraw the CBA request to weaken Indiana's telephone private law. Thank you. Amelia
